Self-introduction

Maja Maria Kosec is a Phd student and Young Researcher at the Department of Asian Studies, Faculty of Arts at the University of Ljubljana. For her PhD Thesis, under the supervision of prof. Jana S. Rošker, she will investigate the transcultural dimensions of decontextualizing Confucian tradition in the contemporary society. She holds a bachelor's degree in Sinology from the University of Ljubljana, Slovenia, that investigated the shaping of human beings and first understandings of art in Li Zehou's philosophy. She holds a master's degree in Sinology from the same university, which investigated the elements of Chinese tradition in the activities of members of the Chinese diaspora in Cuba between the years 1917 and 1960, analyzed through the prism of Confucianism. She previously studied a year abroad at the University of Hainan and Language and Culture University of Beijing and a semester at the University of Havana.
